

In the dark, misty forest, where wolves are born, laid two people who went out to hunt. They decide to get a rest before they set off. After a few minutes, they finally set off into the deep sides off the forest. The smell of mushrooms filled their noses, as they walked. Suddenly one of them noticed, a wolf creeping behind the tree. After few minutes, they see lots of scary, grey and black wolves coming close to them. They sprint in fear to the nearest trees. Suddenly a wolf came by, and attacked one of them. He was in pain, after he got bit by the wolf.
