

REDRAFT in your green books:

Read this writing carefully. Think about the cohesion and joining sentences together using different connectives such as but, so, although, because, whilst etc. Change some of the boring words for more interesting ones and also think about changing the order of the words, particularly the start of sentences to give them more impact!

I saw an object in front of me I didn't know what it was. I couldn't hear anything and I was scared. I kept looking at it I wanted to move towards it then I thought why not. The object moved up and down and I didn't know what was going to happen next. I decided to walk forwards so I could actually see what it was then I heard a big noise so I stopped. I stood as still as I could so that the object didn't notice me then I walked forward looking at the object so that I could do something if it saw me.

The object started to make some different types of movement and I was worried so then I decided to hide behind a rock. I looked around it. The object was making some noises.
